

Passages for our New Years passage 12 anchors for navigating the New Year

Here are the 12 anchor points from last Sunday. God wants us to hold to anchors in order to navigate the uncharted waters of this year. This is the just the beginning of a whole new season of years.

I encourage you to study the context in which each of these scriptures were written and even commit them to memory if the Lord impresses you to do so. I believe they will provide you with perspective for this year of surprises.
